In a lot of classes I am doing this: public static void main(String[] args) { // TODO Auto-generated method stub Person p = new Person(); p.getName(); Student s = new Student(); s.getId(); } But when I try to compile this I get an out of recursion error. Any ideas why? A: Calls to the getName method call the constructor of the Person class. Hence, an infinite recursion is formed as the constructor call (and all the things it calls) cause calls to the getName method again. If you want to get only the name then do this: String name = p.getName(); Q: cancelObjectInteractionNotification: not working on iPad This code works perfectly on iPhone, but on iPad, the first UIViewController to get to this point receives [NSNotificationCenter defaultCenter] addObserver:self selector:@selector(cancelObjectInteractionNotification:)

The problem is that I want to detect this notification in the first UIViewController and then call the cancelObjectInteractionNotification: method in that first UIViewController, but since I get to that point before UIApplicationDidBecomeActiveNotification, it doesn't work. Is there a way to detect this UIApplicationDidBecomeActiveNotification in the first UIViewController? A: No, you cannot do this.

UIApplicationDidBecomeActiveNotification is sent before UIApplicationBecomesActiveNot
